

Daniel Rodriguez, America's Beloved Tenor

A serious student of music and performance at an early age, with concerts in Carnegie recital halls during his teen years, and as a NYPD officer and member of the ceremonial unit, singing at the departments official functions. His studies with legendary tenor, Placido Domingo carried him to the next level, with appearances around the world, and at many of America's most prestigious national events.

"I was so moved by his performance in ways I can't describe. I've worked with plenty of singers before, but Daniel is by far the most compassionate, the most down home. He's a good hearted and funny guy, and a major talent. He has an amazing gift to give to the world."

~Tom Scott, Conductor, Composer, Musician.

Take this opportunity to bring Daniel Rodriguez, America's Beloved Tenor, aka "The Singing Policeman" to your next event.

Above: Carnegie Hall with the Philadelphia Boys Choir.

Right: Mercy Flight WNY gala

Below: National Memorial Day Washington DC., ,

USO opening of Bethesda Family Center

